'Hippie' Group Involved In Disorders 3 Nights, City Hall Flag Is Torn

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Roving bands of youths described by authorities as "hippies" created disturbances in several areas of the Quad-Cities community on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

Several arrests were made, and crowds estimated at 100 to 150 persons converged on the Granite City Hall to protest on Friday and Saturday nights.

Chief of Police Ronald Weber reported there was no violence at the city hall and the crowd disbanded after about an hour

Friday night after being asked to leave.

The disturbances started Friday night at the YMCA. After police broke up the crowd, many congregated at Wilson Park, Chief Veizer said.

They left the park on police orders and then assembled near the parking area of a closed supermarket at Pontoon Road and Franklin Avenue, where police were dispatched at 12:35 a.m. Saturday.

Fights Break Out

Some fights broke out, the chief said, and area residents began phoning complaints to the police station.

Arrested at the parking area was Dave DeWitt, 18, of 1336 Lindell Blvd., who was charged with disorderly conduct. A juvenile was taken into custody on a curfew violation charge. The two allegedly resisted efforts by police to disperse the crowd, authorities said.

A group again marched on city hall where an all-weather American flag was cut from the flag pole and was torn.

A repetition of the disturbances occurred Saturday night at a drive-in restaurant at the Pontoon-Franklin location.

Arrested there were Dale A. Hughes, 18, of 2533 Stratford Lane, and Jim Thile, 20, of 1202 West Pontoon Road, on disorderly conduct charges. The crowd again converged on city hall but left upon a request by police.

Move to Venice Park

Following the Saturday night disturbance, about 10 persons moved into Low Park, Venice, where they played catch with toy saucers.

Patrolmen from the Venice and Madison police departments removed them at 4:10 a.m. Sunday.

Protesters again appeared at the Pontoon-Franklin drive-in Sunday night, and customers in the restaurant objected to foul language and personal references.

After police ordered it to leave, the crowd appeared at another drive-in restaurant in the 3300 block of Nameoki Road.

Order was shortly restored by police. When he allegedly refused to leave, Richard Howell, 18, gave an address as Zeigler, Ill., was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and profanity.

Protesters again appeared at the city hall, but the crowd had dwindled to eight to 10 persons, Chief Veizer said.

During the disturbances, Granite City police were assisted by units from the Madison, Venice and Madison County departments and by state troopers.

Authorities today urged that the public remain calm and uninvolved. Law enforcement officers have stressed they are confident they can cope fully with such disorders if they continue.

SIU Board to Hear Budget Proposals

Discussion of preliminary program requests for the 1972-73 operating budget at the Southern Illinois University-Springfield and at Carbondale and plans for this summer's Mississippi River Festival program, are among topics on the agenda of the SIU Board of Trustees meeting Friday.

The board session will be held in the International Room at University Center beginning at 9:30 a.m. An executive session is scheduled in the Walnut Room of the Sunset Hill Hotel, Sunday Inn at 3 p.m.

Budget matters are to be presented by Chancellor Robert L. Lamm and by Chancellor Robert Lamm of the SIU-Carbondale campus. 375 Honor Retiring Logan Principal

Mrs. Eva Meier, principal of Logan Elementary School, was honored Thursday evening at an open house sponsored by the Logan Parent-Teacher Association in the multi-purpose room of the school. She will retire at the end of this school year after 18 years as principal at Logan.

Refreshments were served to 375 guests. A large scroll made by Michael Velloff's upper intermediate (sixth grade) class and signed by every student, teacher and worker at Logan School decorated the wall of the room.

Halls of the school were decorated with retirement cards made by the students.

Three arrangements of blue daisies and snapdragons centered the guest table, and blue and white decorations were suspended over the refreshment tables. A large cake inscribed with "Best Wishes, Mrs. Meier" centered the table.

Mrs. D. Reva Turner, president of the PTA, opened the meeting by ringing an old school bell. Supt. B. J. Davis led opening prayer and Brenda Whitaker and Linda Escabedo, representing Brownie Troops 103 and 381, presented Mrs. Meier with a white orchid corsage.

Angel Cieny and Cindy Wofford, representing Girl Scout Troop 45 presented Mrs. Meier with a gift from the troop.

Engraved Serving Tray

Mayor Donald Partney, a past Logan PTA president, presented

Mrs. Meier with an engraved silver serving tray from the PTA. The mayor also presented her with a key to the city.

Mrs. Turner introduced Guy Lahr, master of ceremonies.

Also seated at the guest table were Mrs. B. J. Davis, Earl Lee of Carlinville, retired school personnel administrator, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Rea and Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Craycraft. Rea is assistant to the superintendent.

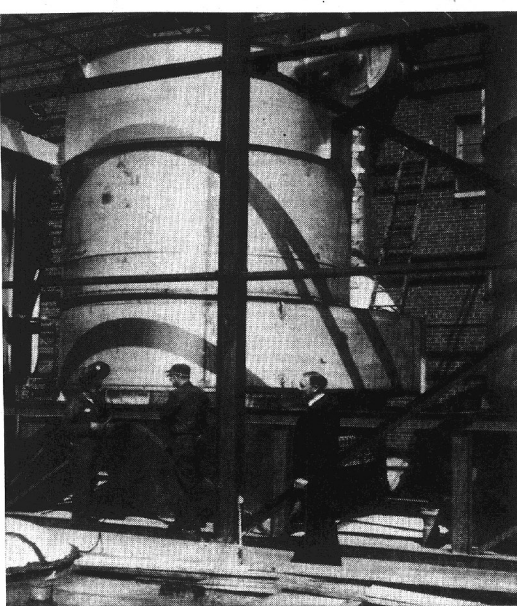

After appreciation speeches, the audience was entertained by the New Life Singers from the First Assembly of God Church. Mrs. Meier served as a secretary at McKinley School in Granite City from 1923 to 1925, when she enrolled at Southern Illinois Normal University.

FOR PURER AIR. The Nestle tea plant in Granite City, largest in the world, keeps pace with environmental improvement in the area with $35,000 in stallation of twin stainless-steel bins which will collect tea particle emissions and prevent air pollution. Robert Schuessler, right, plant manager, checks on progress of the work. At left are workers Ron Luebben and Jesse Welby.

Nestle Fights Pollution

The Nestle Company, Inc., which operates the world's largest tea processing plant in Granite City, announced today a new $35,000 equipment installation which not only will eliminate a dust-particle emission problem, but also improve the plant's productive efficiency.

"The installation, novel to the instant tea manufacturing business, is designed to capture and recycle the useful food solids now being wastefully emitted into the atmosphere," according to Robert Schuessler, manager of the local Nestle plant.

"If the tea particle recovery system which goes into initial operation next month proves successful, it will set a pattern for Nestle plants around the world," Schuessler said.

Instead of exhausting the solid particles into the air, the new system will carry them upward from the spray drying operation via 24-inch ducts into two stainless steel bins being erected atop the Nestle plant. The bins measure 12 feet in diameter and 28 feet in height.

Tea Particles Returned

Each bin contains 144 dacton bags in which the useful tea particles will be captured and returned to the filling line. Only fresh air will be exhausted into the atmosphere, thus solving another environmental problem for the plant, Schuessler said.

The innovation follows The Nestle Company's profitable maxim of "doing better by doing good." Schuessler said. Nestle has spent $600,000 on such improvements in Granite City during the past few years, and each of them has resulted in

Tax Bills in GC Top $9 Million

An overall tax bill of $9,678,533 payable this summer by taxpayers of Granite City Township was announced today by County Clerk Eulalia Hotz who said Granite City tax books have been completed and will be turned over immediately to Tax Treasurer E. R. Rich.

At the same time Miss Hotz announced an aggregate tax rate of $5.703 for the six taxing districts of Granite City township, an increase of 23.3 cents per $100 assessed valuation over last year's rate of $5.47.

The tax extension includes $9,621,739 in local taxes and $56,794 in railroad taxes.

New tax rates, Miss Hotz announced, are $4.66 for Granite City School District 9, up from last year's $3.33; 35 cents for the county, down from 35.5; $1.02 for the city of Granite City, down from $1.04; 18.6 cents for the township, an increase from 14.5 cents; 23.6 cents for the park district, up from 10.4 cents; 45.3 cents, levee district, up from 41.

The reduction in the overall tax extension despite an increase in tax rates results from a heavy cut in the assessed valuation, fixed at $169,726,992 for the 1970 tax year and the basis for tax collections this year. The township's assessed valuation last year was $176,539,287.

Court Ruling Jeopardizes $2,750,000 GC School Funds

"Business as usual" is the order of the day in the Granite City school district, largest taxing agency in the Quad-Cities.

But what may become the most serious financial problem in its history looms ahead. A $2,750,000 financial gap is in prospect.

The heart of the potential problem is the burgeoning cost of operating Community Unit District Nine educational facilities, combined with the steady erosion of the personal property tax base.

Illinoisans in November 1970 voted to end all taxes on the personal property of individuals. It was assumed then that taxation would continue on personal property owned by businesses.

Current estimates are that more than $80 million of the $216 million figure may be lost if personal property no longer is assessed on corporations, insurance firms, businesses and banks. The district includes Granite City Township and parts of Napoleon, Chouteau and Venice Townships.

The $2,750,000 decrease in tax

Fast-Draw Artist Leaves Guns at Home, Joins Rattlesnake Hunt in Oklahoma

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Four western conical diamondback rattlesnakes may not be the best pets in the world, but to Robert "Cole" Younger, Rural Route 4, Edwardsville, the snakes are his trophies from the 22nd annual Jaycee rattlesnake roundup in Okeene, Okla.

For the past three years, Younger, a machine operator in the Cold Strip Mill of Granite City Steel Co., has planned his vacation in conjunction with the rattlesnake hunt so that he could be among the 500 or more hunters in the roundup.

Why? "It's a challenge and I like a little danger mixed in there," Younger explained.

Younger always has been a western buff and chose his nickname from the western outlaw leader, Cole Younger, a distant relative. The snake hunter also is a well known fast-draw artist and with a group known as Cole Younger and His Riders, presents western draw demonstrations and stage gunfights for groups throughout the St. Louis Metropolitan area.

Two Men Bitten
The danger in the hunt was real as two men were bitten by the snakes during the roundup and were hospitalized. Jim Glenn of Salt Lake City, Utah, a professional snake handler, was one of those bitten. Glenn entered an eight foot square pit with about 500 snakes which had been caught and was in the midst of a "milking" demonstration when one of the rattlers struck, biting him just above one of the cowboy boots he wore.

The snakes are milked to collect venom which is used in treating mental retardation or for other illnesses. Extensive cancer research using the venom also is being done.

In "milking," the fangs are placed through a rubber top on a jar and a small electric current is run through the head of the reptile which makes him push the venom through the fangs into the jar. Glenn presented several such demonstrations at the roundup before he was bitten.

Over 14,000 spectators were on hand for the hunt and presentation of trophies for the largest, smallest and heaviest snakes caught and for the hunter who brought in the most snakes.

The largest snake caught was 76 inches long and weighed about 20 pounds. The hunter with the most snakes brought in rattlers weighing a total of 145 pounds. Younger had moderate success, bringing in six snakes, but bypassed a 15-inch rattler that would have won the trophy for the smallest rattler captured. "I thought it was too big, but the smallest brought in was 16 inches," Younger said.

To draw more hunters to the competition, the Jaycees caught and branded about six snakes and turned them loose with a $25 bounty on their heads. Most of them were caught and the bounties claimed, according to Younger.

Guns are not allowed and the snakes are caught in a loop on the end of a pole. When asked what one wears to a rattlesnake hunt, Younger replied, "some of the fellows wrap rags or other things around their legs to protect them, but I prefer to just wear cowboy boots. The snakes have a hard time trying to get above those to bite you."

The festival which accompanies the roundup is the highlight of the hunt as the snakes are butchered and the meat is cooked in the streets for tourists, Younger said.

Younger brought four Western Diamondbacks home with him and keeps them in a glass cage. "They are considered by experts the most vicious breed of snake in the world and try to strike at you from the cage," he commented.

The largest of Younger's "pets" is Old Smokey who is five and one-half feet long and as big around as a normal man's arm. Again, "Why? I like to study them. I don't know what I'll do with them later," he answered.

GC Jaycees Set Annual Homecoming June 17-20

Midway rides, games and concession stands, operated by local clubs and service groups, and "plenty of entertainment" are promised for the annual "Homecoming Celebration," to be sponsored Thursday through Sunday, June 17-20, by the Granite Jaycees.

Local organizations wishing to reserve booth and concession stand space for the homecoming are urged to contact Miguel Garcia, general chairman of this year's celebration, at 876-1490, or Darrell Lindsey, at 877-3757.

Both Jaycee members can be reached after 6 p.m. weekdays and all-day Saturday and Sunday, Garcia said.

The four-day homecoming will be held on a vacant tract at 25th Street and Missouri Avenue, the same location as last summer, the chairman said. Ample parking space will be provided, he added.

Concession stand space is limited and groups wishing to participate in the homecoming are urged to contact Jaycee officials as quickly as possible, Garcia added.

In addition to midway rides, several bands will entertain patrons and candidates for the title of Miss Granite City will appear one evening, he announced.

Missouri Airport Site Was Rejected Twice Previously

Illinois officials remained confident today that the site chosen by the St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority for a new major airport near Waterloo, Ill., will supersede the "Dardenne" site or any others now under study in Missouri at the request of the Missouri legislature.

Amid varied reactions by governmental officials to announce by a Missouri-sponsored study team that a site in St. Charles County, Mo., about 30 miles directly west of St. Louis appears "as good or better" than the Columbia-Waterloo location picked in Illinois, proponents of the Illinois site asserted "there's really nothing to comment on yet."

Brian Whalen, executive assistant to Governor Richard B. Ogilvie, said "We really are confident that when all the facts are presented to federal authorities, they will find the facts are on Illinois' side." The Federal Aviation Administration will have the final say in approving a site for the proposed $380 million airport.

The "Dardenne" site — so named from a small town located nearby — is four and a half miles southeast of O'Fallon, Mo. It was recommended in a preliminary report released Thursday by the Airport Systems Division of Northrup Corp. of Los Angeles which is making the $123,000 study with funds authorized by Missouri Governor Warren E. Hearnes.

A Northrup spokesman said the continued study which is expected to be completed in early August will concentrate on the Dardenne site, but also will include two other potential sites in the Wentzville-Forestill area.

The proposed Dardenne-O'Fallon site was criticized by Mayor A. J. Cervantes who pointed out that location of an airport at that location was in conflict with previous engineering reports by the Horner & Shifrin engineers firm.

The mayor, who is supporting plans to build a second major airport in Illinois because of its close proximity to downtown St. Louis, said the selection of the Dardenne-O'Fallon site also ignores the need of the city of St. Louis and could lead to its commercial abandonment.

A spokesman for the Horner & Shifrin firm pointed out that the Dardenne site twice in the past failed to satisfy "critical criteria" requirements on two major airports. He noted that the Northrup selection was a preliminary recommendation and not a final determination of its practicality.

MORE ABOUT Nestle Fights

more efficient and more profitable operation, he explained.

Like all other moves undertaken to combat problems of production, noise abatement and solid wastes disposal, the present improvement also is a long-range one. Earlier this year, the plant's request for a variance permitting the installation was granted by the Pollution Control Board after public hearing. Recognizing the plant's emission problem, the board said:

"The emissions from the Nestle plant are extremely mild in consideration of the overall ambient air in Granite City. Nestle's property is located in an industrial area and does not appear to produce any substantial pollution on any residential properties. It is believed that allowance of the variation would be in the best interest of the state and municipality. The ultimate installation as proposed would be a step forward in an area where much remains to be done."

Solve Disposal Problem

In reviewing past achievements of the environmental area, Mr. Schuessler referred to the plant's recently completed system for the disposal of the thousands of wooden chests in which tea leaves come from all parts of the world. In past years, these were burned in open incinerators along with the other burnable waste solids. The balance was carted away as sanitary land fill.

Last year, automatic wood and metal shredders were installed, and now the shredded wood from the tea chests, along with spent tea leaves coming from the instant tea production, are used profitably to help fire the plant's boilers. They now supply up to 15% of the plant's steam power.

In this way, Schuessler said, the $30,000 expenditure for the tea chest pulverizing system has quickly paid off. Only metal wastes, after being shredded and compacted, have to be carted away as land fill.

The plant also was among the first in Granite City to convert from sooty coal burning boilers to gas-and-oil fired systems. By using low sulfur fuel oil, the plant's emissions were sharply reduced, and today, the combined effluents from stack emissions are well below minimum state requirements.

The boiler conversion and subsequent expansion to meet our growing steam power needs have cost Nestle more than $400,000, but it was well worth it in terms of cleaner and more efficient plant operations."

Schuessler added, "We will continue our campaign for better and more profitable plant improvements in coming years. With Nestle's, it's a way of life."

The company uses Ryckman, Edgerley, Tomlinson and Associates of St. Louis as consultants in water solids and air re-toleration studies and air re-toleration studies.

NESTLE'S, a new company was conveniently known, consolidated the Nidringhaus plants with stamping and enameling works in New York, Milwaukee, Baltimore and New Orleans.

According to George W. Nidringhaus, the circumstances which led to the merger were: Competition had sprung up in imitations of the enameled ware created by the Nidringhaus Company, which resulted in suits being filed against these imitators for infringement on the patents.

A compromise was finally made, and the outcome was the forming of the National Enameling and Stamping Company.

depression would inspire the admiration of the greatest sightseer and the most persistent itinerant, if men were not accustomed to beholding wonders daily.

"The establishments at the Granite City are all permanent and invite the inspection of the home builder, the home seeker and investor.

"The mighty industries can furnish employment to over 4,000 people and over two-thirds of them are residents of St. Louis."

"The city has a complete line of mains for water, its streets are lighted with electricity, and another year may see the completion of sewerage. It has over half a mile of paved streets."

"Granite City is represented by the following wide awake merchants: E. d. w. a. r. d. Bunte handles dry goods, hats, caps, boots and shoes exclusively.

Mrs. Rosenberg is dealer in groceries, dry good, hats, caps, boots and shoes; Mr. Cauer is the postmaster and also has stoves, tinware, cigars and literature.

A Board of Education supervised the Board of School Directors in April, 1889. First members of the board were: James McRoberts, Robert Burns, Dr. R. W. Binney, Henry Fossick, William H. Nidringhaus and Robert Thompson.

Professor Frohardt opened high school classes at the Emerson School in September, 1889.

Jennie Wilcox and Lillie Nienmann, the first graduates, received diplomas in May, 1902.

Lodge No. 11 of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers was organized in Granite City on Nov. 20, 1889. Membership was restricted to skilled workers.

The management of the Granite City Steel plant signed a wage agreement with the A. A. S. & T. W. in the following year and renewed it annually thereafter.

Frederick E. and William Nidringhaus reached the peak of their business careers in 1889 when the National Enameling and Stamping Company was incorporated.

Nesco, as the new company was conveniently known, consolidated the Nidringhaus plants with stamping and enameling works in New York, Milwaukee, Baltimore and New Orleans.

According to George W. Nidringhaus, the circumstances which led to the merger were: Competition had sprung up in imitations of the enameled ware created by the Nidringhaus Company, which resulted in suits being filed against these imitators for infringement on the patents.

Plan Group Will Remain in Collinsville

Southeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission members voted Thursday night to accept an offer for use of a Collinsville building as offices.

The commission hopes to move from its 3,800-square-foot office in Collinsville by July 1 and has cited a need for 6,000 square feet. The Labor Temple here and a Fairview Heights building also had been under consideration.

Clothing Stolen

Burglars pried open a rear door to break into the home of August Thielker, Rural Route One, Granite City, from which they stole a quantity of men's and women's clothing and women's jewelry, sheriff's deputies reported at 11 p.m. Saturday.

Truck Parts Stolen

David Hayes, 116 Reynolds St., Madison, told police Sunday that a set of tire chains and the windshield washer unit of his truck were taken from the vehicle, parked overnight in front of his home.

MORE ABOUT School Tax revenue compares with $15,683, 240 generated by taxes for the current school year, including bond and interest payments and operating costs.

It is possible that some of the $2,750,000 might be made up by increased state tax aid, although a squeeze also appears to be developing on Illinois funds available to public school systems.

Six Classical, Six 'Pops' Concerts Scheduled for 1971 River Festival

Plans are complete for 12 guest artists and conductors to appear with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in six classical and six "pops" concerts under an all-new tent at the 1971 Mississippi River Festival, Peter Pastreich, managing director of the Festival and executive director of the Orchestra, has reported.

In addition, at least 11 folk-pop-rock musical events are planned for the July 10 through Aug. 16 Festival on the Southern Illinois University campus.

Walter Suskind, music director of the Festival and conductor and music director of the Orchestra, will be on the podium for the first of two grand concerts at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Planiar Van Cillan will perform at the opening concert on Saturday, July 10. Others to be featured in the Saturday classical series are guitarist Aron Richter, July 17; soprano Roberta Peters, July 31; conductor Morton Gould, Aug. 7; and Leonard Slatkin, conductor of the Orchestra, and pianist Leonard Pannario, Aug. 14.

Program as Tribute
The July 24 program—the last one to be conducted by Maestro Suskind—will pay special tribute to two great conductors who died during the past year: Sir John Barbirolli and George Szell.

Eight guests are scheduled for the 7:30 p.m. Sunday concert, featuring Symphony programs of lighter fare. The pianist Jeffrey Siegel, July 11; guest conductor Henry Mancini, July 18; trumpeter Doc Severinsen, July 25; conductor Morton Gould, Aug. 1; conductor Arthur Fiedler and pianist Ruth Slenczynska, Aug. 8; and conductor Andre Kostelanetz and the Orchestra's concertmaster, Max Rabinovitch, Aug. 15. Assistant conductor Leonard Slatkin will be on the podium for the July 11 and 29 concerts.

Plans for the season were outlined this morning to more than 200 volunteers attending a ticket sales kickoff on the terrace level of Pet, Inc., 400 South Fourth St.

Mr. Pastreich said the Festival tent currently being designed will accommodate the same number of people—187—as the previous tent, which has been damaged beyond repair by high winds. Plans call for the tent to be attached to a permanent acoustical shell which would protect the stage and sound equipment year-round.

Tent Cost $25,000
The tent, estimated to cost a maximum of $25,000, will not be purchased by Mississippi River Festival, Inc., the not-for-profit Illinois corporation which operates the Festival. Mr. Pastreich said.

Plans for the acoustical shell are scheduled to be submitted to the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees at its next meeting. The new tent will utilize an exterior support system similar to that of the previous tent, so that only two main masts are required inside the structure. Mr. Pastreich said. A prestressed cable suspension system will eliminate the need for poles along the front of the tent, affording the 10,000 persons seated on the sloping lawn outside an unobstructed view of the stage, he added.

John R. Rendleman, chancellor of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, told the volunteers that the University "is delighted to be able to host this significant cultural event for the third consecutive year."

Mrs. William W. Scott, general chairman of MRF ticket sales, explained ticket order procedures and work kits containing brochures and factbooks to the volunteers. They will be on display, and the state-wide winners will be announced at the conclusion of the program.

"Illinois History" magazine is distributed free to schools for classroom use and has a circulation of 30,000. Eight issues are published during the school year, October through May, and this is the 24th year of publication.

Each of the 26 students who do not receive a cash prize will be presented a copy of the book "The Great Chicago Fire" which has an introduction by Paul M. Angle. The 21 teachers of the 26 award winners will receive a year's membership in the Illinois State Historical Society.

student and college of his choice. As a result of this action, Rich Hays, a McKendree grad, won the low gross trophy with a 73. Bob Davis was then second winning a golf bag. In the low net contest, four golfers tied with 70's. They shared these gifts — a trophy, two $25 savings bonds, a golf shirt, and golf balls — by drawing straws. Simon Kamwerth, Hays and Jack Weber won putters for the hole-in-one contest, the longest drive and the most pars. More than 133 prizes were awarded.

Free Pre-School Eye, Ear Screening Set Wednesday

It is possible that a small child may be seeing the world as a misty blur, hearing sounds which are muffled and indistinct and his parents be unaware of his dilemma, according to Mrs. R. M. Edgington of the Granite City Junior Service Club.

A youngster's eyes and ears may appear perfectly normal and the child, not knowing any better, thinks the world is meant to look or sound the way he receives it, the club member stated.

To protect the vision and hearing of all pre-school children in Granite City, between the ages of 3 and 5, a free vision and hearing screening program will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue.

The program will be sponsored by the Granite City Junior Service Club in cooperation with Mrs. Joan T. Ross, coordinator of screening services from the Special Education (Title VI) Diagnostic Center.

Mrs. Edgington, who serves as chairman of a committee responsible for arranging the screening project, said Mrs. Ross will follow up all cases where children taking part in Wednesday's program are referred to eye or ear doctors for more thorough examination or treatment.

Some of the previously undetected eye problems uncovered by vision screening programs are low vision in both eyes, amblyopia, ex anopia (lazy eye blindness), crossed eyes. The certified, trained technicians, who do the actual screening of children, often have noticed symptoms of other visual problems and referred those youngsters to an eye doctor for a complete examination, Mrs. Edgington said.

She explained that the free pre-school vision and hearing screening is offered as a public service to the community.

"We hope every 3-to-5-year-old pre-schooler in Granite City will be brought to the screening center Wednesday," Mrs. Edgington added.

30-Day Limit on W-2 Forms is Restored

The Internal Revenue Service is restoring the requirement that employers provide Forms W-2 to workers within 30 days after final wages are paid upon termination of employment, according to Jay G. Philpott, District Director of Internal Revenue for Central and Southern Illinois.

Earlier the requirement had been suspended because IRS had delayed printing of 1971 Forms W-2 while Congress was considering legislation which would affect Social Security information on the form.

Since then legislation has been passed by Congress and the Forms W-2 are now available at IRS offices. Philpott said employers should furnish Forms W-2 to former workers by June 2 if their employment was terminated on or before May 3. He added, for employees whose employment is terminated after May 3, W-2s should be furnished not later than 30 days after final wages are paid.

Parents of pre-school age children and persons interested in education are invited to attend a meeting of the Edwardsville Montessori Society at 8 p.m. Wednesday at SIU-SW.

The final meeting of the season for the society, Wednesday's program will be a review of the topic, "What Montessori Is and Is Not." A question and answer period will follow.

The Edwardsville Montessori Society was organized in April 1970 by persons interested in Dr. Maria Montessori's approach to education. Sufficient enthusiasm for the Montessori approach resulted in the founding of the Children's House, a Montessori child development center in Edwardsville, for children from 2½ to 6 years of age.

The non-profit, non-sectarian center will open Aug. 30, staffed by Mrs. Joseph Trochta, O'Fallon and Mrs. Gerald McGivern, Edwardsville. Both women have public school and Montessori experience. More information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Emmet Bestner, at 288-

Girl Scouts Veil Camp-Out Movies

Girl Scouts of Troop 345, sponsored by the Parents For Special Education, opened the Thursday night meeting of the Parents organization with presentation of the Colors, at Central Christian Church.

Immediately following the flag ceremony, Mrs. Donald Marquis showed movies of the Girl Scout Troops' camp-out held last month at Camp Lakota. The Parents For Special Education furnished the trip for the Scouts.

Speakers were Miss Joanne Krebs and Mark Fogel of the SIU-SW Council for Exceptional Children. They were present in the absence of Dr. Thomas Shea, who was unable to attend. The SIU students presented a slide program entitled, "Project Luv," accompanied by a musical tape. The presentation dealt with programs throughout the state concerning the exceptional child. Day camps, State Institutions, as well as classrooms were shown.

Miss Krebs and Fogel also spoke on the Day Camp program to be offered at the SIU-SW campus this summer. Exceptional children between the ages of 7-12 years old are eligible. Sessions will begin June 28 and continue for six weeks. The six-hour daily camp program is financed through a $5,000 state grant. Dr. William Whiteside, Dr. Thomas Shea and Dr. Rube Long, all of the SIU-SW campus, will be in charge of the program, assisted by university students.

President Norman Kinder presided over the business meeting. Reports were given by the Girl Scout leader, Miss Vickie Yetter, who announced plans for the Parents Banquet, when the Scouts will be presented their awards. It will be held May 27, from 6 to 9 p.m., at Wilson School.

A pot luck supper is planned. All attending are to bring their choice of a salad, a vegetable or a dessert, and to contact Miss Yetter, 876-6849, with their selections.

The last meeting of the school year will be held June 3, and the troop will resume weekly meetings in September. The troop will attend a Cardinal ball game on June 16, as their first place prize in the recent cookie sale. The troop sold the most cookies per girl in the entire neighborhood. Other week-end activities are planned for the summer months.

The Parents group donated $10 for Scout-A-Rama Tickets to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Connard, leaders of Den 1, of Cub Pack 11. Mrs. Connard announced the boys are preparing a flag ceremony for the June 10 parents meeting. The Pack had a family picnic Sunday at Wilson Park, when assistant Den Mother, Mrs. Barbara Williams, son and her son Mike, were honored guests. They are moving to Colorado at the end of the school year.

Mrs. Jean Fisher reported on the slide program being prepared for fall presentation. The slides will show the various special education classes and programs in this area, and those interested in obtaining information for their club or organization may call Mrs. Fisher at 876-6892, for additional information.

Post Financial Corp. Gains State Approval

Post Financial Corp. of Milwaukee, Wis., and Hinsdale, Ill., has received approval from the Wisconsin Commissioner of Insurance to conduct business in the state.

The firm, organized by Post Corp., to finance insurance premiums, has been operating in most states since last July as an Illinois licensed company. Wisconsin licensing was sought to comply with an interpretation by the commissioner of insurance that loans made to Wisconsin residents have to be made by companies licensed in Wisconsin.

Post Financial arranges payment schedules on decreasing interest rates for up to three years. Insurance agencies use financing services to develop business and reduce accounts receivable.

Post also owns All-Star Insurance Corp., Milwaukee, an excess/surplus lines insurer, and INRESCO, Chicago, an excess/surplus lines brokerage firm. Post Financial's operating headquarters are in Hinsdale and its regional accounting office is in Milwaukee.

Uncle Sam Sharing More Consumer Data, Consolidates Product Index

Could you use advice on the selection and care of automobile tires or on selecting and financing a home? Do you know how to avoid being misled when buying "bargain" freezer meats?

This information, and much more equally valuable to consumers, is now available in the low-cost booklets listed in the federal government's new Index of Consumer Product Information.

The publishing of the index of 211 selected publications by 11 federal agencies is one of the steps in President Nixon's program to share more product information with consumers.

Never before have existing consumer product publications produced by various federal agencies been listed in one index.

Free copies of the index may be obtained by writing to the Consumer Product Information Distribution Center, Washington, D. C. 20407.

The index was developed by the General Services Administration's new Consumer Product Information Coordinating Center with the cooperation of the President's Office of Consumer Affairs.

Included in the index are titles of 25 publications already stocked at Federal Information Centers across the nation.

All 211 publications may be obtained by filling out and mailing the order blank in the back of the index. As new publications are issued, they will be included in subsequent editions.

The subjects in the 15-page index range from A-Z—from appliances to zippers.

The publications cover many areas, including budget shopping, residential building, home repairs and improvements, and health.

Among the most popular booklets are Money-Saving Main Dishes, Fish and Shellfish over the Coals, Selecting and Financing a Home, Roses for the Home, Fibers and Fabrics, Buying Your Home Sewing Machine, and Tires—Their Selection and Care.

The Consumer Product Information Coordinating Center, created by the President as part of the GSA, is responsible for encouraging the development and publication of meaningful and relevant product information, accumulated as a byproduct of the government's research, development and procurement activities.

It also is charged with the task of promoting greater public awareness of existing federal publications of interest to consumers.

Most of the pamphlets which are available are either inexpensive or free.

In the initial category, appliances, one can learn about sewing machines for 10 cents, microwave oven radiation at no cost, and "how to teach sewing machine use and care," for 40 cents.

Automotive Information includes brakes, operating cost, safety defect recalls, safety seats for small children, tire reserve load comparisons and performance statistics for 1971 passenger cars and motorcycles.

cations deal with shopping, family budgeting, money managing, budgeting for the young couple, use of credit for the family, and planning for retirement years.

Prenatal, infant and child care information is offered along with a discussion of youngsters' feet and footwear.

Titles related to clothing and fabrics are: Changing the Hem in a Dress or Skirt, Clothing Repair, Dangers of Flammable Clothing, Fibers and Fabrics, Fix New Clothes to Make Them Last Longer, How to Tailor a Woman's Suit, Look for Tail Label, Making Pants Longer or Shorter, Make the Waistline Fit on Pants, Measure Before You Buy, Used Clothes for Your School Boy or Girl, Pattern Altering, Home Methods for Removing Stains from Fabric, Replacing a Zipper, and Tapering Pants.

In the spring, people's fancy often turns to thoughts of gardening and landscaping, and the consumer index does not disappoint. It offers eight booklets under the general garden heading, ten on flowers, nine on fruits and vegetables, ten on trees and shrubs and nine pamphlets on pest control.

Health subjects totaling 15 in number are divided into three major categories—dietetics, drugs and hearing aids.

Housing topics include Designing the order blank, Home, Fireplaces and Chimneys, Home-Buying Veteran, How to Reduce House Construction Costs, Know the SBA Build On, four reports on heating and cooling systems and eight books on home repairs and improvements.

Food is the biggest single topic of interest, embracing 82 publications. The divisions include general food information, diet and nutrition, dairy, fruits and vegetables, meat, poultry and seafood.

Miscellaneous books run the gamut from Adhesives for Everyday Use (selecting and applying adhesives in the home and hobby shop), 40 cents, to Summary of Information for Shoppers of Household Goods (helpful tips for anyone moving), 20 cents.

In addition, a comprehensive monthly newsletter is offered, covering the federal government's consumer activities, including consumer complaints, practices and the environment.

The catalog itself has been made available at no cost in accordance with the President's view that "government product information is acquired in the public interest and should be made available to the public and to other government agencies in a manner that is useful to consumers."

The Index of Consumer Product Information can be obtained at the following Federal Information Centers in this Region: Chicago, Ill., Everett McKinley Dirksen Building, 219 S. Dearborn St., telephone 313-353-4242.

Cincinnati, O., Federal Office Building, 550 Main St.—513-684-2381.

Long Service by Dr. E. H. Theis in the Campaign Against Respiratory Diseases

Hats are off to Dr. Edward H. Theis, Granite City medical doctor, who has devoted 15 years as a member, director and officer of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, the Madison County Tuberculosis Association and the Lewis-Clark Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association of Madison, Jersey and Calhoun Counties.

He was instrumental in the successful tax referendum to provide for the establishment of county sanatoriums, and of Madison County, all Illinois counties in the margin by which the proposal passed.

During the long service by Dr. Theis with voluntary groups seeking to eradicate tuberculosis, yearly Christmas Seal contributions have risen from $918 in 1936 to $64,319 in 1970. As the plaque he received May 10 says, his service in the fight against respiratory diseases has been distinguished.

He who seeks faultless friends remains friendless.

Sgt. Nemeth Good Choice for Police Award

The selection of Granite City Detective Sgt. Joseph J. Nemeth launches annual Quad-City "outstanding police officer of the year" judging in this fashion.

An experienced, thoroughly trained, skilled and respected officer, he is president of the regional juvenile officers and for 15 years has been active in helping govern the Coordinated Youth Service, including eight years as CYS president.

He also has been a part of the YMCA teenage and Boy Scout explorer programs and is familiar with narcotics control, family counseling, mental health and child guidance procedures.

A young granddaddy who is a Marine Corps veteran, Sgt. Nemeth has shown dedication to community service throughout his career. He is a credit to the local police and to the cause of fair and effective law enforcement.

Air travel will be a lot safer when the ride to and from the airport has been eliminated.

Moon Gets Much Blame, Credit for Influencing Happenings on Earth

(American Institute of Physics)

"When a circle is around the moon, count how many stars are in it, and that's how many days of bad weather will follow. If there are no stars in it, there will be dry weather."

According to Newton Turner, an Eastern Kentucky farmer in his seventies, most farmers in the mountains of Southern Appalachia "go by the moon in farming, as the moon goes by the Bible in church."

Newton Turner and his wife, Julie, told Albert Moyer many of the old sayings about the moon, and about its effect on their lives.

Moyer, a national teaching fellow, was teaching an introductory physics science course at Lees College, Jackson, Ky., and discovered that most of his students held the same beliefs about the moon as did the older residents of the area.

Obstruction of Clinic by 708 Board May Be Twisted Effort to Reprimand Local Hospital

The ability of the Quad-City Mental Health Center to function in a reasonable manner continues to be clouded by the attitude of the Madison County Mental Health (708) Board.

Nobody elected the 708 Board, but its anti-mental-health members have secured appointments through the elected County Board of supervisors, and the latter board so far has been unable or unwilling to soften the hostility of the appointees.

Because the 708 Board has rejected several proposed new Madison County mental health programs and has sought to torpedo or handicap many of the existing services, its ruling majority ought to resign; it is clearly unsympathetic to the concept of government providing needed counseling to the emotionally disturbed. Unfortunately, the "reverse role" members may have no intention of dropping their "anti" crusade.

The problem has been developing over a period of years. Laymen unfamiliar with the techniques and goals observed the treatment center here and conducted interviews. A long list of alleged inadequacies was developed, and all county tax funds were cut off with the issuance of an order to the Quad-City Center board to fire the director it had hired. The director eventually fled the attack has been resumed on his successor.

Third parties tried to reach a compromise, offering a voice in hiring. The Quad-City Center board eventually gave up much of its governing authority while 708 still refused to spell out the performance standards it desires.

Now, 708 is seeking to hide its maneuvering behind the recommendations of a salaried mental health coordinator. The Quad-City Center needs $3,000 monthly ($15,000 for 1970-71) restored in order to maintain minimum services, but the coordinator has been intimidated into a negative finding even though he could find no fault with the treatment being given. It would not be "realistic" to disagree with his bosses on 708, he told the Quad-City board May 5.

The local clinic needs assurance of the funds this month. Only two 708 Board members bothered to show up for their regular meeting May 11 and the lack of a quorum prevented any action. Another meeting will be attempted May 24.

It is difficult to see a coherent motive in the curious situation created by the 708 Board. Patronage power may be part of it, and there also has been talk of "keeping taxes down."

The latter appears only to be a smokescreen. Because the taxing pattern which has been followed has failed to result in economy—and it might well be a false economy even if achieved.

There also might be a twisted rationalization on the part of some of the board members in some way serves as a reprimand to St. Elizabeth Hospital and other hospitals which attempt to cooperate with Illinois Department of Mental Health. The 708 Board's disapproval, if held by 708, reflect extreme confusion over the way public and private funds are used, and the conclusions are far from factual.

The state's mental and mental health authorities think the Quad-Cities and southern Madison County ought to have not only the present programs, but expanded services. But the obstructions of the 708 Board, and unless thwarted in some fashion, is going to force an abrupt unjustified, unacceptable cut-back—a truly sad backward.

Moon Gets Much Blame, Credit for Influencing Happenings on Earth

(American Institute of Physics)

Albert Moyer described his moonlore experiences in the moonlore series of experimental science.

For their experiments, the students decided to test Newton Turner's a d g e: "If the moon is in the new moon; wait till the moon goes down to a full moon."

Each project participant agreed to plant one row of a specified type of hybrid sweet corn on the favorable date of the full moon, April 21, and one row on the unfavorable date of the new moon, May 5, and then compare the development of the two rows.

"The favorable date, April 21, fell a few days after the end of school, and ironically, the ground was too wet for many people to plant," Moyer writes. Moyer advised his students to change the favorable date to May 20, the next full moon. The students planted their rows on the proper days, some working in partial secrecy, fearful of the disapproval and steady grandfathers who might augment the moon's power with a little well-placed superstition.

Unfortunately, the results of the students, summer experiments were not definitive. The differences in height of the stalk and the size of the ears could not be ascribed to differences in weather during the growing season.

As Moyer noted, a much more refined and controlled experiment would be required to test Newton Turner's sage advice: "Don't never plant corn on the new of the moon; wait till the moon goes down to a full."

Procedure to Correct Tax Return—Form Provides Shortcut

(Internal Revenue Service)

Q) How can I correct an error on my tax return?

A) Form 1040X is the preferred form to use to correct an error on your original return. The 1040X calls only for information that relates to that part of the original return which you wish to change.

It is not necessary to include all of the information furnished on the 1040 which you filed. Form 1040X and instructions are available at your local IRS office.

Q) I plan to start my own business. Do you have any publications that will be helpful to me?

A) Yes, IRS Publication 454, "Business Start-Up Kit," contains forms and instructions that will help you to comply with tax laws.

Contact your local IRS office to arrange a mutually convenient time to have the Kit delivered to your home.

work bonuses which you receive from your employer are taxable.

Q) I am working for two employers, and both are deducting social security tax from my wages.

Since my wages from one employer will exceed $7,800, can I ask my other employer to discontinue his social security deductions?

A) No, an employer may not withhold social security taxes on the first $7,800 in wages paid to each employee.

However, you will be entitled to claim any excess social security tax withheld as credit against your 1971 income tax at the time of filing.

Q) If I made a mistake in my return and I haven't enough to pay the tax, how do the IRS have to make the adjustment or correction?

A) Generally, the IRS can assess additional taxes up to three years from the due date of the return or the date of filing, whichever is later.

SIMON FAVORS SOME BOND RESTRICTIONS

To the Editor:

This is a letter to the editor in response to an editorial concerning my vote on the anti-pollution bond issue.

Since there have been misleading statements made on this subject, I thought you might be interested.

The issue has been resolved through a compromise but thought you would like to review the background.

"Your editorial criticizing the Senate Democrats and my tie-breaking vote on the pollution bond issue is in error."

"The position which we have taken will not slow down the anti-pollution fight one bit, but can result in a substantial saving to the people of Illinois."

"When that gets down to $10 million or less, an additional $50 million may be issued, and this process continues until the entire bond issue is spent."

"Our approach does two things: "First, it prevents issuing bonds when not needed."

"Secondly, in the passage of the bonds, some incorrect information was given to the public. The literature promoting the bond issue said, 'For every dollar the state puts up, the federal government will put up two more.'"

"The reality is that the state and local communities will be fortunate to receive $1 from the federal government rather than the promised $2. If the state can see that bonds are not needed, it is possible more than needed, it is possible that additional federal funding may become available."

"The public relations army of the present state administration—an administration that is engaged with deficit spending and huge bond issues—is attempting to paint the Democratic position as one of obstructionism."

"The facts are to the contrary. We want to support substantial anti-pollution efforts, but we don't believe in subsidizing bond houses unnecessarily."

expenses, and suffer untold mental anguish.

"To some degree at least, his right to freedom and his pursuit of happiness is violated. Meanwhile, if his assailant is apprehended and charged, the full power of our judicial processes ensues to protect his constitutional rights. This is well and good.

But how about the victim? Frequently, the compassion he may receive from the investigating enforcement officers, his family, and friends is the only concern shown in his behalf.

Indeed, in some instances, the crime victim witnesses organized campaigns of propaganda directed against his guilty assailant—campaigns of lies and innuendoes which charge that the criminal, not the victim or the law-abiding public, is the one who has been "sinned against."

The tragedy is that in some instances these false claims are repeated and publicized without question by various means, apparently for reasons other than those those doing so want to believe the accusation.

Consequently, the popular cause to legally protect the criminal is crowding his victim to the second place of justice.

It has been said that, "Justice is the insurance we have on our property, and obedience is the premium we pay for it."

To my mind, too many Americans, victims of pampered criminals, are paying the premium without collecting the insurance.

Colorful, Flawed Western Novel

THE TREASURE OF THE CHISOS. By John H. Culp. Holt, Rinehart & Winston, Inc., New York. $5.95.

This novel begins as the protagonist lands on the levee in old St. Louis from a river boat after having come down the Ohio.

The boy is taken to the deathbed of his grandfather, who entrusts him with a small parcel and very old parchment, the original land grant signed by the Spanish queen.

Upon the death of the old John, the boy starts his long and arduous trip to Texas (and in those days it was not merely a matter of hopping a leg to arrive in Texas the same day).

On the second day, the boy robor and thereafter endures his work by firing the boiler on an old steam wheeler.

Early in the book, the important characters are presented to the reader, including the protagonist's cousin; a red-faced, rotund cardsharp and patent medicine salesman; a cantankerous female partner in crime; and a gorgeous young woman who ultimately provides the love motif for the story.

From the title, the treasure is for the reader to discover: the Chisos—a range of mountains in southwest Texas.

Although this book makes for satisfying reading, especially for the stark "western" buff, this reviewer takes exception to some small part to the author's efforts, frequently strained to stretch the idiom to the point of parody in an attempt to make his story seem more real.

This is the fourth novel by John H. Culp concerning the Old West.

The author's grandfather, a member of the frontier battalions of Texas Rangers, recounted many tales that have been embodied in this book as well as others.

The author has worked on ranches in Texas and Oklahoma and his characters are presented to the reader, including the protagonist's cousin; a red-faced, rotund cardsharp and AUTUMN BRIDE Miss Barbara Wasylak whose engagement to John Carlson is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wasylak, 1018 Greenwood St., Madison. An Oct. 30 wedding is planned.

Miss Maryann Luebbert Weds Joseph A. Skowron

The wedding of Miss Maryann Luebbert and Joseph A. Skowron took place Saturday afternoon at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Luebbert, 2454 State St. Mr. Skowron's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Skowron, are deceased.

The Rev. Joseph Enright heard the vows of the couple at 2 o'clock before the altar decorated with arrangements of white summer flowers.

Mrs. Margaret Crawshaw presided at the organ and accompanied the vocalist, Mrs. Alice Worthen.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of pure white satin, fashioned with a high neckline of Chantilly lace, and lace formed a coat effect over an Empire bodice. Full sleeves were banded with lace and lace trimmed the full sweep train.

A forward lace and pearl beaded headpiece held in place a tiered veil of illusion and the bride carried a cascade bouquet of Eucharist lilies and variegated ivy.

Miss Brenda Luebbert, the bride's sister, was her maid of honor and only attendant. She was gowned in a floor-length dress of floral silk styled with an Empire bodice and long sleeves trimmed with green velvet ribbon. A matching velvet band was in her hair and she carried a basket of multi-colored flowers.

Joseph Guzy was best man for Mr. Skowron, and ushers were Thaddeus Przada, a cousin, and Michael Makarewicz, a nephew of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Luebbert wore a pink dress and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

The wedding reception was held at the Polish Hall in Madison.

The Rev. Bill Belmar performed the 6:30 ceremony. The altar was adorned with white flowers and greenery, and white bows marked the pews along the center aisle.

The Rev. David T. Richardson, soloist, sang "A Time For Us"; "O Promise Me"; and the Lord's prayer, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. W. J. Richardson.

A gown of white organza over tulle was worn by the bride. It was styled with an Empire waist trimmed with lace, flower-lets and seed pearls. Traditional sleeves came to points at the hands and a cathedral train was attached at the waist with a large bow.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, carried a bouquet of white roses. A shoulder-length veil of illusion was secured with a flowered headpiece.

Miss Mrs. Peppers was honor attendant, and Miss Linda Wilson served as bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in Empire gowns with dark blue velvet bodices and light blue organza skirts over tulle with trimmings of white lace and ribbons. Their headpieces were of light blue and both carried nosegays of blue and white carnations.

Roger Crites was best man, and Larry Pirtle served as groomsmen. Ushers were Gary Strong and Mike Webb, brothers of the bride and groom.

The bride's mother was in an apricot crepe dress and beige accessories, while the bridegroom's mother chose a light blue crepe dress and black accessories. Both wore white orchid corsages.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church Fellowship Hall. Miss Mary Jane Strong presided over the guest book.

The bride and groom are graduates of the Granite City High School and the latter is now employed by the Laclede Steel Co. The bride is employed at a local beauty salon.

Rev. Paul Davis, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Madison, officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony conducted in the home of the groom.

The bride chose a full length gown of white organza fashioned with a bodice of tiny rows of lace, a high neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, accented with matching lace.

A blue satin ribbon outlined the high-rise waistline. Lace ruffles were repeated on the hemline of the gown and down the center of a detachable train. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid.

A small jeweled comb held in place her triple-tiered bouffant veil of bridal illusion.

Miss Debbie Clymer of St. Louis, the only attendant, selected a floor length gown in yellow and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Kevin Ditch served his betrothed as best man.

The swing is to Electrically Heated Buildings

New high school at Clinton, Illinois

When it comes to specifying the heating system for municipal and commercial buildings, the trend is definitely toward Electric Heat.

One reason is its versatility. With individual thermostats, you provide the right temperature for a gym, conference room or office. You heat only that part of a building that's being used. You eliminate a lot of maintenance, because Electric Heating systems are efficient and simple. With these businesslike advantages comes a world of comfort that's close to ideal. Electric Heat makes a building function better for living, working or recreation.

For any municipal or commercial building, consider Electric Heat. It's the system that's great for both the owner and occupants. Our Commercial Sales Representative will be glad to give you full details.

Jones Park Offers Slice of Nature In Urban Setting; Near I-64 Route

By CAMILLE ODELLICH
Region 8 Tourism Bureau of Southwestern Illinois

If Ambrose and Harriet Jones were living today they probably wouldn't recognize their dairy farm in Illinois, located a few miles from their milk market, St. Louis, across the Mississippi.

Today the Jones farm is Jones Park in East St. Louis, and its proximity to St. Louis is even more evident because of the 630-foot Gateway Arch looming over the park's western horizon.

Settled in 1844 by Jones, an English blacksmith, the country atmosphere of the park sharply contrasts with the industrial city surrounding the old Jones farm. Thick woods enclose a portion of the estate, one-half the size of the park, paralleling the Louisville and Nashville railroad tracks.

As a recreational retreat for generations of East St. Louisians, Jones Park has a modern swimming pool, tennis courts, softball and baseball diamonds, a fountain, pavilion, lagoon and plenty of space for picnickers, dispersed among its grassy tree-studded acreage.

A portion of the farm was sold to the East St. Louis Park District in the early 1900s, and the remainder was transferred from the Jones family in the 1930s. As the city of East St. Louis grew in population, doubling every 10 years until 1940, Jones Park seemed to grow with it.

Covers 230 Acres
As part of the heart of the city of East St. Louis, Jones Park seems to be synchronous with the ups and downs of the city, which many have termed "dying."

At one time, the park boasted one of the largest natural swimming pools of its kind. In 1913, the $25,000 pool was constructed, covering two acres with its sandy bottom and beach.

In 1924, the pool, which at one time had inspired hundreds of city dwellers to line the streets for admittance during hot weather, received its death sentence. The park board was forced to abandon the pool for its failure to meet state sanitation requirements. The verdict was reinforced by the unfounded rumor that water moccasins found the water as refreshing as the East St. Louisians.

The present swimming facility was built in 1937. With a capacity of 1,100, the pool accommodated about 200 people in 1969.

Lagoon a Feature
Winding through the sylvan acres of the park is a horse-shoe-shaped lagoon, spanned by a 15-foot bridge. Once canoes and rowboats dotted the water, docking near the brick pavilion on the lagoon's edge. Water boats also skinned about the lagoon for a few years.

Today water lilies are the lagoon's only navigators. However, the lagoon does serve as a "mini" fishing resort for the younger set in the summer months. Ice skaters glide across the glassy surface during the winter, illuminated by bonfires built along the lagoon's edge.

An unusual aspect of the Jones Park lagoon was the discovery of tombstones along one of its banks in 1964.

The reason for their presence along the lagoon's shore was evident — to prevent erosion. But it was a mystery as to how they got there. The best speculation is that an old cemetery was forced to move by the expansion of East St. Louis, and either delivered the tombstones to Jones Park, or offered them to the park district, and they were accepted.

Now it seems that they have disappeared as mysteriously as they arrived.

Has Illuminated Fountain
An illuminated fountain, complete with light puffs, still colors the night sky in Jones Park with its rotating rainbow of colors, synchronized with the rising and falling water.

Unlike some other fountains, this one never seemed to be the recipient of either coins or romantic wishes.

Jones Park also has something for the less aesthetically inclined. Sports lovers, from avid horsehoof fans to long-distance runners, can pursue their athletic endeavors at the park.

Seven baseball and seven softball diamonds are used by various groups from grade school teams to adult intr-city leagues. The main baseball diamond has a grandstand seating a couple hundred fans. Around the diamond is a quarter-mile track. In the fall and winter the diamonds are used for soccer and football games.

Five blacktopped tennis courts, on the perimeter of the woods, remain from the park's original courts. The 10 unused courts are lawn courts, and have been out of condition for many years. Adjacent to the five frequently used tennis courts are the horseshoe courts. One of the easiest things to overlook in Jones Park is a statue dedicated to the soldiers who died in the Civil War. The statue was moved from the East St. Louis City Hall to the park around 1910. A former East St. Louisian, now 70 years old, can remember donating his pennies, as many grade schoolers of that era did, to help finance the moving of the statue.

Picnicking Spot
The spacious tree-filled park, besides having picnic tables and barbecue pits, has always offered the ideal setting for civic and social programs and projects.

Band concerts, dog shows and a day camp for retarded children have coupled the park's relaxing atmosphere with the work of their specialized activity. They were among the approximately 400,000 served by Jones Park facilities in 1969.

Jones Park is one of 11 parks in the East St. Louis Park District. Since 1895, the district covers 1,337 acres in the city of East St. Louis and surrounding areas.

Besides realizing the addition of new facilities, the changing times and the changing urban community offer another threat to the park. Part of the interstate highway system, I-64, will travel along the southern fringes of the park, further between the country aura of Jones Park and the urbanized atmosphere of the city.

Although Ambrose and Harriet Jones might feel somewhat at home in Jones Park today, their horse-and-buggy trip to St. Louis wouldn't be quite the same.
